Thomas Beline is a partner in Cassidy Levy Kent’s Washington DC office. His practice focuses on advising clients on all areas of import regulatory compliance and policy, trade remedies, and international trade litigation. He regularly appears as lead counsel before the U.S. Department of Commerce, the U.S. International Trade Commission, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, the U.S. Court of International Trade, and North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) binational panels.

Mr. Beline works with companies from many industry sectors including primary steel, consumer electronics, construction equipment, fabricated metals, chemicals, and textiles. He has been appointed by the chief judge of the U.S. Court of International Trade to serve as a member of the Court’s Rules Advisory Committee. Mr. Beline has also appeared as a speaker on international trade topics. Mr. Beline is an adjunct professor of law at the University of Pittsburgh.

Prior to joining Cassidy Levy Kent, Mr. Beline was an attorney with the Office of the Chief Counsel for Enforcement and Compliance (formerly Import Administration) at the U.S. Department of Commerce.
